How risky is it?

The value of the fund can go down as well as up. You could lose money.

One way to gauge risk is to look at how much a fund's returns change over time. This is called "volatility".

In general, funds with higher volatility will have returns that change more over time. They typically have a greater chance of losing money and may have a greater chance of higher returns. Funds with lower volatility tend to have returns that change less over time. They typically have lower returns and may have a lower chance of losing money.

Risk rating

SLGI Asset Management Inc. has rated the volatility of this fund as Low.

This rating is based on how much the fund's returns have changed from year to year. It doesn't tell you how volatile the fund will be in the future. The rating can change over time. A fund with a low risk rating can still lose money.

For more information about the risk rating and specific risks that can affect the fund's returns, see the "What are the general risks of investing in a mutual fund?" section of the fund's simplified prospectus.

No guarantees

Like most mutual funds, this fund does not have any guarantees. You may not get back the amount of money you invest.

How has the fund performed?

This section tells you how Series F securities of the fund have performed over the past 10 calendar years. Returns are after expenses have been deducted. These expenses reduce the series' returns.

Year-by-year returns

This chart shows how Series F securities of the fund have performed in each of the past 10 calendar years. The series did not drop in value in the last 10 years shown. The range of returns and change from year to year can help you assess how risky the fund has been in the past. It does not tell you how the fund will perform in the future.

Best and worst 3-month returns

This table shows the best and worst returns for Series F securities of the fund in a 3-month period over the past 10 calendar years. The best and worst 3-month returns could be higher or lower in the future. Consider how much of a loss you could afford to take in a short period of time.

	Return	3 months ending	If you invest $1,000 at the beginning of the period
Best return	2.0%	February 29, 2024	Your investment would rise to $1,020
Worst return	0.0%	September 30, 2020	Your investment would rise to $1,000

Average return

As at April 30, 2025, a person who invested $1,000 in Series F securities of the fund 10 calendar years ago has $1,126. This works out to an annual compound return of 1.2%.

Who is this fund for?

Investors who:

- Are investing in a non-registered account and want to invest in a fund that has the potential to share capital losses (if any) and expenses with other funds within the same corporate structure after having considered your specific tax circumstances.
- Are conservative and income-oriented.
- Have a shorter investment time horizon.
- Are comfortable with low investment risk.

Do not invest in this fund if you have a longer term investment horizon, a higher risk tolerance or are seeking capital appreciation from your investment.

A word about tax

In general, you will have to pay income tax on any money you make on a fund. How much you pay depends on the tax laws where you live and whether or not you hold the fund in a registered plan, such as a Registered Retirement Savings Plan or a Tax-Free Savings Account.

Keep in mind that if you hold your fund in a non-registered account, fund distributions are included in your taxable income, whether you get them in cash or have them reinvested.

How much does it cost?

The following tables show the fees and expenses you could pay to buy, own and sell Series F securities of the fund.

The fees and expenses - including any commissions - can vary among series of a fund and among funds. Higher commissions can influence representatives to recommend one investment over another. Ask about other series, funds and investments that may be suitable for you at a lower cost.

1. Sales charges

There are no sales charges payable to your representative's firm for this series.

2. Fund expenses

You don't pay these expenses directly. They affect you because they reduce the fund's returns.

As of December 31, 2024, the series' expenses were 0.56% of its value. This equals approximately $6 for every $1,000 invested.
